Calculations

by — Oswald Chambers (1874-1917)

Fret not thyself, it tendeth only to evil-doing (Psalm 37:8, RV)

It is easy to “rest in the Lord,” and to “wait patiently for Him” (:7) until the nest is upset; until we live in tumult and anguish.

Resting in the Lord does not depend upon external circumstances, but on the relationship of the life of God in me to God Himself. Fussing generally ends in sin.

not take it in as a calculable factor (cf. I Corinthians 16:9).

God is our Father, and therefore to fret is to miss the mark of His wise parental care. Our circumstances are never too much for Him. Make God the biggest factor in your calculation, not evil.

DON'T CALCULATE WITHOUT GOD

“Let not your heart be troubled” (John 14:1).

How are we to have an untroubled heart when things are not right, when circumstances are twisted upside down?

Whenever you reckon things up, bring God in as the greatest factor in your calculation.

In the providence of God great upheavals come that we had never calculated. To take God into all of our calculations is the one thing that keeps us from the possibility of worrying. Fretfulness springs from a determination to get our own way. Have I learnt to calculate upon God as the greatest factor of all?

DON'T CALCULATE WITH THE EVIL IN VIEW

Love taketh not account of the evil (I Corinthians 13:5, RV).

To take no account of evil does not mean that we are ignorant of its existence; it simply means that we do

DON'T CALCULATE WITH TOMORROW IN VIEW

Take therefore no thought for tomorrow (Matthew 6:34).

When we take thought for tomorrow, it becomes the dominating calculation of our life. What our Lord is saying is, “Don’t make tomorrow the ruling factor of today.” Most of us do.

God’s provision is sufficient for the evil of today. However, today is lived without the power that God has for us, because we take thought for tomorrow as the dominating calculation, instead of Him.

Trials and the Sequel

by — Clyde L. Pilkington, Jr.

Q: My own circumstances have driven me to deeply question the statement many make that "God will not give you more than you can bear/handle." The scriptural reference basis most often used is I Corinthians 10:13.

I have researched the original Greek using Benjamin Wilson's 1942 Emphatic Diaglott and came away confused. The inline word-for-word translation contains the reference to "temptation" but the summarized version converts "temptation" to "trials." Is this a Greek conversion oddity?

I'm battling mightily, like many Christians who commit suicide or are persecuted and killed for their beliefs. I'm at a loss as to what to really believe any more. At some point, God breaking one down to his knees can turn into God breaking one's knees and I'm wondering where is the victory when the result is one's spirit being utterly destroyed?

The subject seems timely as we know the shaking going these days is multi-dimensional. Is there scriptural guidance that is applicable besides David's constant whining in the Psalms? I know that talking to mental health professionals is the most common answer, but where in the world does one go for support in a spiritual crisis? – D.S.

A: First, I want to thank you for your heartfelt letter. I can certainly appreciate your comments.

As for the Greek word being translated as “temptation” rather than “trial,” this would actually be a disservice to believers by weakening its meaning. Πειρασμός (peirasmos) is defined as:

–a putting to proof (by experiment [of good], experience [of evil], solicitation, discipline or provocation); by implication adversity (SEC).

–an experiment, attempt, trial, proving (TGL).

Vincent’s Word Studies tells us that:

It is a mistake to define this word as only solicitation to evil. It means trial of any kind, without reference to its moral quality.

So, while “temptation” is certainly an aspect of peirasmos, it is not all that the word encompasses.

The answer and comfort of I Corinthians 10:13 is not found in peirasmos, but later in the verse with the Greek word ἐκβασίς (ekbasis) which is usually rendered “escape.” The translation that makes this verse clear is the Concordant Version where the word is rendered as “sequel”:

No trial has taken you except what is human. Now, faithful is God, Who will not be leaving you to be tried above what you are able, but, together with the trial, will be making the sequel also, to enable you to undergo it.

God’s provision for our trials is not found in an “escape,” but rather in “the sequel.”

For example, the divine awareness of Romans 8:28¹ and Ephesians 1:11² makes the believer confident that the best is yet to come. Our earthly lives are merely the elementary stage. Faith rests in the grand sequel that awaits. Paul puts the anticipation of “the sequel” as that which takes us through the severest of trials.

Here are a few examples of the Scripture’s declarations of creation’s assured sequel.

I put to death and I bring to life, I have wounded and I will heal (Deuteronomy 32:39).

The LORD kills, and makes alive: He brings down to the grave, and brings up (I Samuel 2:6)

He has torn, and He will heal us; He has smitten, and He will bind us up (Hosea 6:1).

He makes sore, and binds up: He wounds, and His hands make whole (Job 5:18).

You turn man to destruction, and [then] say, “Return, you children of men” (Psalm 90:3).

We can see that the sequel to “death” is resurrection; the sequel to “destruction” is the divine “return.”

“The sequel” is what took our Lord through His severest trial of Gethsemane and Calvary. Thus we are to be,

The Curse of Coniah and Christ’s Genealogy (A Compilation)

The virgin birth of our Lord, Jesus Christ, was an absolute necessity, judging from the genealogies. At first glance the opposite seems to be the logical deduction. Why should His descent be traced back to David and Abraham unless He was their natural Heir? Why go back to Adam unless He had a perfect pedigree? Authors include: John Cale, Joseph Hartill, A.E. Knoch and Fred Meldau.

Reader's Question Box #52

What happens to believers after the end of this dispensation?

by — Clyde L. Pilkington, Jr.

Q: What will happen to believers, the members of the Body of Christ, when God ends this dispensation? Will they continue to live after this dispensation of grace ends and into the next phase of God's operation?

In other words, like the secret administration came in gradually, as in the transition in Acts, is it possible that the next phase might also be a transition? I.e., during the time of the transition in Acts, and even afterwards, there were people in both dispensations co-existing with each other (like Peter/Paul, etc.) and that might also be true for the end of this dispensation and the beginning of the next. – A.S.

A: I have long since abandoned the idea of a transition into the present Secret Administration. Such a transition is a basic tenet of the mid-Acts position. It took me a long time to let it go.

The end of the Acts Administration and the beginning of the Secret Administration were abrupt, not transitional. In fact, by the very "secret" nature of the present administration, the two are mutually exclusive.

The Acts Administration, as with all prophetic ones, requires the Barrier Wall to be up, with the distinction between Israel and the nations being fully in place; while the Secret Administration requires the Barrier Wall to be down (Ephesians 2:14), with all such distinctions removed. Thus, the Secret Administration belongs exclusively to the revelation contained in Ephesians and Colossians.

While Israel's prophetic Scriptures are indeed progressive, the Secret Administration's Scriptures are not. During the Acts Period and its administration Paul does transitionally reveal his gospel and many things concerning Israel and the nations' subservient relationship to them, but the very nature of the administration in which we currently live disallows such a transition/co-existence with any Jewish administration.

While other administrations may overlap, the Secret Administration can't – due to its nature as standing apart from prophecy. Therefore, it starts and ends abruptly, without transition.

So, could any member of Christ's Body be alive past the Secret Administration, on into a Kingdom Administration? No. Our pre-expectant appearing with Christ is what will make way for the "un-pausing" of the prophetic program. If, by Paul's definition, the nature of the One Body in the Secret Administration is the removal of all distinctions between Jew and Gentile, then the problem of us remaining after this present administration is over would be twofold:

(1) We would either cease to be members of the One Body during that time, or at least we'd return to an infancy Body that would allow for such distinctions;

ALL in All: The Goal of the Universe

by — A.E. Knoch (1874-1965)

(#6269) 219 pages, Paperback

(See order form.)

This publication is a compilation of the writings of A.E. Knoch on human destiny. The author examines three major theories on this topic current among students of Scripture. The striking phrase "All in all," which pertains to the vivification of all mankind in I Corinthians 15:28 and relates to the reconciliation of the entire intelligent creation in Ephesians 1:23, is discussed at length. Two extensive appendices are included, exploring the usage of the terms "eon" and "eonian" in the Scriptures.

(2) Whenever we would “appear” with Christ it would necessitate that the key “secret” action of our calling take place during “prophetic” times.

Both of these are untenable.

The very nature of our Secret Administration necessitates that it be self-contained from its inception to its end.

God is not calling an unlimited number into the One Body. Hence, that calling will simply “run out” its course. Thus, after the last member of Christ’s Body dies we will all be resurrected to appear with Him in glory.¹ By then no one will be missing from among the living. Once the One Body and its Secret Administration are removed, prophecy will then be able to resume.

1. Though I say “member” in the singular, obviously it could be “members” in the plural. It could certainly be possible, all by God’s determination and in His own timing of course, that instead of the last sole “member” of the One Body dying alone, that the last generation of “members” could all die at once, being killed, say, by a pandemic, or other natural disaster, or even some “man-made” event such as war.

For now Israel is Lo-Ammi – not God’s people. They have currently lost their dispensational distinction, standing and advantage.

It must be remembered that, unlike Israel’s future work – that of reaching the world – we actually have a very limited ministry with no such scope. God has narrowed our ministry to personal faith and study, perfection through suffering, and witnessing to the Celestials. Only the few called of each generation of the Secret Administration are participants.

While the institution of Christendom is yet another religion used to help keep the world in blindness, the One Body has always remained virtually unknown. BSN

Genesis 1:2

“COMES TO BE”

by — Dean H. Hough

It is certainly misleading to translate this verb by the English word “was.” In creating the Earth, God did not create something that was chaos. God created the Earth, and it came to be a chaos. God is fully responsible to the Earth that He created, and the chaos must ultimately be traced to Him; but the wording of Genesis 1:2 by means of the verb “became” directs our attention, not to God’s place in this development, but to the development itself, so that our focus can be on the actions of God in dealing with this development.

Most English translations of the Scriptures follow the lead of the King James Version and use the verb “was” here. However, it is a mistake, and highly unscriptural, to think of chaos as a condition independent of God and His operations. This is a tenet of dualism and a direct contradiction to the truth that all is out of God (cf. Romans 11:36). On the other hand, it is also a mistake to see chaos as a phase of creation. It is obviously a phase in the history of the Earth, but the work of creation spoken of in Genesis 1:1 is a matter of positive achievement. The entrance of evil is a separate matter which direly influences creation and ultimately leads to an appreciation of its goodness, but it is not a part of that goodness.

It is unfortunate, then, that most translations of Genesis 1:2 in English use the word “was” here rather than “became.” This is compounded by current commentaries which, when they consider the question at all, dismiss the use of “became” without a careful consideration of the evidence.

It becomes a special source of gratitude, therefore, to read such a book as Without Form and Void by Arthur C. Custance.¹ Without agreeing with all of Dr. Custance’s points, we appreciate his efforts here in gathering together historical and linguistic evidence for translating Genesis 1:2 as a later development that occurred after the Heavens and Earth were initially created.

This evidence leads him to conclude that the Hebrew verb here is “not normally employed to express the simple copula” (to say that one thing is or equals another thing). Furthermore, this verb “is employed only when change of a specific kind is involved. This does not mean change in the sense that a past situation is no longer true in the present, but rather that a present situation is changing, has changed from what it was, or will change in the future” (p. 75).

I was introduced to your teachings by my dear, old friend, G.H., from Ceduna, South Australia. However, while he remains in Ceduna, I and my wife of over 60 years’ happy marriage live and work in the UK.

Graham and I spent years in the Worldwide Church of God, Graham in Australia and I at the HQ in the UK before returning to Australia. We both left that cult by God’s grace and His plan for our journey into a brighter understanding of our Father’s love for ALL.

I know you will continue to grow and to affirm the wonderful truth of the resurrection and redemption of all mankind. How free that makes us all! But why us? Why now? It must be because “not many wise ...”! – UK

Father opened the eyes of my heart (Ephesians 1:18) to a majority mindset [i.e., mature, as contrasted with “minority” – immature]. We can enter into “the deficiencies of the afflictions of Christ ...” (Colossians 1:24), through our earthly sufferings because we ARE the Body of Christ, and as we suffer, so must He also as we are “joined to Him as one spirit” (I Corinthians 6:17). He is the Head, we the Body, thus we are ONE and the afflictions are truly His – i.e., we never suffer alone! Praise the depth both of the wisdom and knowledge of Father God! – SD

Since our allotment, according to Paul, is to be located in the Heavenlies, what kind of issues are we going to face as we do our work among the celestial beings that inhabit there? This training we are undergoing in this life I believe will lead us to praise and to give our Father thanks now and especially when we are given our allotment. Who knows what that place will be like for us to clean up after the Adversary and his associates are kicked out. Reconciling to Christ those left there will require love and patience along with sound teaching from us. God is in control and I know He directs my every step. I see His handiwork

I Choose! Living Life to Its Fullest

Forty-Eight Daily Thoughts on Divine Life

by — Clyde L. Pilkington, Jr.

You are alive! Yet not just alive, but alive with the very life of God! Don't allow your "What if ..." imaginations of the past or the future to lay claim to the present that God has given you. Allow the objective, unchanging truth of who God has made you in the Lord Jesus Christ to transform your mind and life as you take this spiritual journey of "I Choose."

These "choices" are not to be confused with so-called "free will." At the close of the book the author will reveal that our "choices" are nothing short of God's sovereign decree in our lives.
